Final Reminder to Darling Range electors Be sure you have your say on Saturday

Electoral Commissioner David Kerslake has issued a final reminder to Darling Range electors to make sure that they have their say in Saturday's by-election.

"Already over 6000 electors have voted at early voting centres, but that leaves many more who need to vote at a polling place on Saturday 23 June 2018", Mr Kerslake said.

Voting in the election is compulsory for all electors in the Darling Range district.

Mr Kerslake also advised that registered electors in the Darling Range district have been sent an information card which includes information about polling place locations.

A list of polling places is also available online on the Commission's website at:
www.elections.wa.gov.au

Assistance is available by calling the Commission's helpline 13 63 06.

Polling places open at 8.00 am on Saturday and close at 6.00 pm sharp.

Please note: Because of an accident at the site, the proposed polling place at Clifton Hills Primary School has been relocated to:

Kelmscott Primary School
River Road, Kelmscott
